

Data Protection

The information you provide to AP (personal information such as name, address, email, and phone) will be processed and stored so that it is possible to contact you and respond to your correspondence, provide information, comply with AP insurer's requirements, send invoices and receipts relating to all AP events. We have only the personal data you have provided to us. We do not gather information on our members from any third party agencies or services, nor do we share any of your information with any third parties for their own use. The only third parties that might have access to your data are those that provide us with technical support and hosting services, and they have no rights to use any of your data, and are secured.

Legal Basis for processing

The legal basis for collection and processing of your personal data is that you have given your consent and/or that it is our legitimate interest to do so, as we could not operate the membership without it. Your rights and freedoms are not prejudiced by this. Our processing of your data is on the basis of:

- Processing is with consent of the data subject

Or

- Processing is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation

Or

- Processing is necessary for the performance of a contract with the data subject or to take steps to enter into a contract

You have the right to withdraw consent at any time. If you do so, it will not affect the lawfulness of any processing for which we had consent before you withdrew it.

Information Security

AP takes care to ensure the security of personal data. We make sure that your information is protected from unauthorised access, loss, manipulation, falsification, destruction or unauthorized disclosure. This is done through appropriate technical measures and relevant policies. We will only keep your data for the purposes it was collected for and only for as long as is necessary, after which is deleted.
